Authentic Advice Regarding the China-Japan War.

AMUSING CHINESE COWARDICE.

When They Feared an Attack by the Japanese, Officers and Men Crowded a Foreign Vessel and Insisted on Being Taken Away from the Scene.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—The steamer Peru arrived last night, bringing the following advices to the Associated Press, dated Yokohama, Oct. 30: General Oyama's army left Japan Oct. 18. The number of troops was estimated at a little more than 20,000. They filed nearly fifty transports, and fifty flatboats accompanied the flotilla to facilitate the landing. On Oct. 24 the east coast of the Liau Tung peninsula was reached.

A considerable part of the force was put on shore at a point supposed to be some thirty miles north of Porth Arthur, and a little north of the fortified town of Lang Chiao, or Chien Chih, on the opposite coast. The remainder of the army passed around the extremity of the peninsula into the gulf of Pe Chi Li and toward a destination not yet positively known to the public in Japan. The fleet under Admiral Kuroki moved simultaneously upon the stations of Port Arthur and Taku. The purpose was to hem in all the Chinese garrisons in the southern part of Liau Tung and compel their surrender, as well as that of Admiral Ting's squadron. The native troops defending the positions were believed not to exceed 6,000 in number.

General Yamagata's army signaled its advance into Manchuria by the seizure of the walled town of Kewlech, or Chiu Lien. The attack was so feebly met that the encounter could hardly be called a battle. The crossing of the Yalu river was completed on the morning of Oct. 25 and was followed by a succession of skirmishes, in which the Japanese lost seventy killed and wounded. Kewlech fell Oct. 25. The defending force was estimated variously at from 10,000 to 15,000, all of which were killed before the final assault. The Japanese casualties were about twenty killed and eighty wounded. Of the Chinese 400 were reported killed. The spoils were of great value, including the thirty large cannon, thousands of small arms, abundance of ammunition, 5,000 tons and quantities of provisions and fodder.

A captain of a foreign steamer engaged in carrying coal to Port Arthur reports that scores of injured men are lying exposed and uncared for and surrounded by unburied dead. While he was discharging his cargo a panic was caused by an announcement that the Japanese were approaching, and the exhibition of cowardice was thus demonstrated.

Every inch of space was taken up with Chinese officers and men, both from the fleet and from the fort, who came on board and insisted on being taken to Taku, whether it washed it or not. Vice admirals, post captains, lieutenants and other naval and military officers, and even captains and every grade of petty officers and the rank and file of the land forces were berthed on the steamer, anything as long as they were taken away from the place where they momentarily expected to be attacked. Many of the officers from the fleet had two wives and families with them, and paid for their passage with diamonds, rings and valuables.

A diplomatic question will presently be brought forward for consideration by the governments of the United States and Japan. By American usage all sailors sailing in American merchant vessels are held subject to United States jurisdiction, no matter what their nationality may be, where the ship may be stationed. This claim is not only theoretically maintained, but has been practically put in force. The governor of the Kanagawa district, in which Yokohama is situated, now asks the central government for information as to whether this position will be recognized by Japanese seamen on alien ships within the limits of the empire. The foreign office answers that all Japanese and also foreigners not belonging to treaty powers, who are charged with offenses on American ships while in Japan, must be tried by native courts, and that the right of the United States as authorities to deal with them cannot be admitted.

Several American newspapers express the opinion that the proposed treaty between the United States and Japan is delayed by the unwillingness of the latter power to agree to restrictions upon the immigration of her subjects. This is an error. The important question regards the question of no importance, for the reason that it is Japanese show any disposition to leave their native land. The country is not at all overcrowded, and more than half of the land available for cultivation is still uncultivated.

Major General Orme, of the British army, now visiting in Japan for the purpose of military observations, has made an inspection of the Red Cross hospital at Tokio, in which the Chinese prisoners are received. The prisoners themselves were profuse in their praise of Japan, and had no wish to be liberated. In examining their injuries he found they had been wounded by sword, bayonet and shot from behind, showing they were caught as they had taken to their heels.

A severe earthquake occurred in the northern provinces of the main island of Japan on Oct. 22. Many hundreds of houses were thrown down or consumed by fire, and more than 300 persons were killed. The town of Sukata was almost entirely destroyed. An eruption of Mount Chokai, a volcano in the disturbed district and supposed to be extinct, is also reported.

No Reply from Japan.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The subject of mediation of the troubles between China and Japan by the United States government was one of the questions that was considered at the cabinet meeting today. A reply has yet been received from the Japanese government to the offer of the United States to act as mediator.

ALLEGED FRAUD IN MISSOURI.

An Official Count Changes the Generally Accepted Verdict.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 14.—Great astonishment has been created by the announcement that the official returns reverse the result previously accepted as final, and show the election of Brewsterman and Keashear, Democrats, over Jamieson and Slagan, Republicans, to the respective offices of prosecuting attorney and county marshal. Until the official announcement was made the two parties would have staked their lives that the Republican candidates were elected. There were cries of fraud. Judge Hawthorne has wired the secretary of state that the returns have been manipulated, and advising him not to issue commissions to Brewsterman and Keashear. County Clerk Caldwell has issued certificates of election to Brewsterman and Keashear.

THE DENVER STRANGLER.

Another Mysterious Murder in the Slums of Colorado's Metropolis.

DENVER, Nov. 14.—"Strangler's Row" has been the scene of another murder. No. 1975 Market street was visited by the fiend whose strange hobby it is to choke women to death, and when he left the place Kiku Oyama, a Japanese girl, who ran the place, was a corpse, with the marks of the strangler's work upon her throat.

The murder was committed in the same row of houses in which Lena Tapper and Marie Contas were strangled. The mode of the present murder was exactly similar. After partially choking her the job was completed by tying a towel around her neck and tightening the noose until life left her body. There was every indication of a desperate struggle.

Kiku Oyama was 24 years old, and emigrated from Japan to Chicago with the racial representatives of her native land to the Columbian exposition. There she made the acquaintance of Imi Oyama, and together they came to Denver last November. Imi Oyama says he was the dead woman's cook, but the neighbors say he lived with her as her husband. He was the first person to enter the Japanese girl's room after her death. Imi and several other Japanese were arrested, but there is no evidence against them.

Police Surgeon Wheeler believes that such a criminal exists in this city as "Jack the Ripper," who so feebly murdered and hacked fallen women in the respectable Whitechapel, in London.

A Bride's Wedding Gifts.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Myrtilla F. Hart entered suit in the supreme court against Tiffany & Co. for $2,500, the alleged value of silverware and other property in a trunk which was given in her charge. She was married in 1884 at Charleston, S. C., to Joshua L. Hart, and separated from him in 1892. She had given the trunk, which contained wedding presents, into Tiffany's care, and the husband wrote for the trunk. It was sent to him. The jury brought in a verdict for $1,199.50. Judge Barrett held that Tiffany had no right to turn the trunk over to the husband unless they could prove that the wife had given the authority to do so.

The Forest Fires South.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 14.—The forest fires are still raging in Arkansas, but fortunately are in a section where but little damage is being done except to the timber lands, fences, etc. Dwellings being few and far between. The fires in Mississippi are doing more damage, and have now broken out in the vicinity of Haywood, Miss., near where R. P. Tate lost four houses by the flames. In De Sota and Tunica the fires are still raging, and have done considerable damage to fences, outhouses, the top growth of cotton, etc. Fires are also reported at Paris, Tenn., and Florence, Ala.

To Reduce Miners' Wages.

DEMOIS, Pa., Nov. 14.—Bell, Lewis & Yates posted notices notifying their miners here and at Punxsutawney and Reynoldsville that a reduction of five cents per ton would be made Nov. 15, making the scale thirty-five cents. The cut will effect 10,000 tons. This makes the price for mining the same as before the big strike, and is the same that has been paid all along the Beech Creek region. The miners are holding a mass meeting today.

Robbed by Highwaymen.

LEBANON, Pa., Nov. 14.—John Long, of Independent district, a suburb of this city, was stopped at Eighth and Water streets early in the morning by a man who asked him for tobacco. THE NEW BOND ISSUE.

Secretary Carlisle Issues His Formal Call for the Loan.

FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS WANTED.

The Bonds Will Bear Interest at the Rate of Five Per Cent. and are Redeemable in Coin After Ten Years from the Date of Their Issue.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Secretary Carlisle yesterday afternoon, as had been anticipated for several days, issued his call for bids for $50,000,000 5 per cent. ten year bonds, interest to be paid in coin, which is interpreted to mean gold. The only material change made in the present call from that issued Jan. 14 last are the omission of the upset, or minimum price which would be accepted, and the notice that the proposals for the present issue must be sealed.

It is confidently expected that the treasury department will receive an amount well in excess of that required for the February issue. This expectation is based upon the fact that there are exceptionally large amounts of money now lying idle and seeking investments in the money centers of the country, and upon the further fact that the February issue is now quoted at $118.50, or about 2 per cent. above the price, which would yield 3 per cent. From the last issue there was realized $88,690,817.03, and of this amount $22,850,264.24 was in gold coin, $8,810,439 in gold certificates and $23,339 in other money, which the sub-treasuries were compelled to take in making change.

While these amounts were actually paid into the treasury in gold or its equivalent a very considerable amount of gold was withdrawn from the sub-treasuries for the express purpose of using it again in paying for the bonds. The exact amount thus withdrawn cannot be ascertained, but the best judgment obtainable is that it approximated $15,000,000. With a view of a more exact estimate of the amounts which may be withdrawn between now and the settlement of all accounts under the call the sub-treasuries will from this date keep a record of all deposits of legal tenders made in exchange for gold and the names of the firms or persons making them.

The following is the secretary's circular calling for bids:

"Sealed proposals will be received at the treasury department until 12 o'clock noon on the 24th day of November, 1894, for United States 5 per cent. bonds, in either registered or coupon form, dated Feb. 1, 1895, redeemable in coin at the pleasure of the government after a year from the date of their issue, and bearing interest payable quarterly in coin, at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum.

"Bids whose proposals are accepted will be required to pay 50 per cent. in gold coin, or government bonds upon the amounts of the proposals, as soon as they receive notice of the acceptance of such bids, and to pay in like coin or certificates an additional 20 per cent. at the expiration of each ten days thereafter until the whole is paid; but they may at their option pay the entire amount of their bids when not notified of acceptance or at any time when an installment is payable. The first payment, however, of not less than 20 per cent. must be made when the bidder receives notice of the acceptance of his proposals.

"The denomination of the bonds will be $50 and upward, and bidders will, in their proposals, state the denomination desired. The bonds will be dated Feb. 1, 1895, in order to make the proposed issue uniform as to date with the existing issue, but interest thereon will begin Nov. 1, 1894, and bidders will be required to pay accrued interest at the rate of 5 per cent. on the face value of their bonds from Nov. 1 to the date of dates of payment. The total issue of bonds in pursuance of this notice will not exceed the sum of $50,000,000.

McKane Will Give Up His Papers.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 14.—Chief Accountant William A. Brown, of the board of and, had an interview with John Y. McKane in Sing Sing on Monday in relation to an examination of the accounts of the town of Gravesend. McKane declared that he was innocent of any wrongdoing in connection with the affairs of the town, and said he was willing to have Mr. Brown have all the papers in his possession, as he had nothing to fear from an investigation. All he asked was a fair report. This was promised, and McKane will furnish all the desired information.

Sentenced to Hang on Thanksgiving Day.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 14.—Some six weeks since Buddie Wooten and George Mapp, murderers, were condemned by the supreme court of Tennessee to hang in Chattanooga Nov. 29, and later the same day was declared a day of thanksgiving. Sheriff Hyde is deeply perplexed over the conflict between the chief executive and the supreme bench. Some authorities contend that the punishment, if inflicted on a legal holiday, will be illegal, and Governor Turney will be petitioned to grant the condemned men a reprieve.

AN ASTONISHED MARSHAL.

He Cannot Account for the Disappearance of His Prisoner.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14.—Deputy United States Marshal Henry Miller, of San Francisco, reached St. Louis last evening. He left San Francisco last Thursday with Henry Smythe, accused of using the mails to defraud Chicago merchants. Monday, at Little Rock, Ark., Smythe disappeared from the train so mysteriously that Miller has not yet recovered from the shock.

When Smythe's wife learned that her husband was to be taken she begged permission to go along, and friends got a pass for her and her daughter.

"When we reached Texarkana Monday morning," said Miller, "Mrs. Smythe made coffee in the berth and prepared the meal. An hour and a half afterward I had dreadful pain in my head, and I was almost overcome by a drowsy feeling. My head felt as if it was in a vise, and one of the others were taken sick. The inference is obvious.

"Early in the afternoon when the train pulled into Little Rock I noticed that while I had been on the platform watermen had unlocked the rear door to supply the drinking tank, and that Smythe had skipped."

Disgusted with Woman Suffrage.

DENVER, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Waite, wife of the governor, who was one of the foremost women in advocating equal suffrage before the legislature, said in an interview that she was disgusted with the result of the enfranchisement of the women. "The conduct of the women of Capitol Hill both before and after the election," she said, "has been perfectly scandalous. They have simply cut the throats of the party that gave them the right to vote, and have disgraced their womanhood. The governor opposes the enfranchisement of women as much as I do now. He thinks they should receive some education in citizenship before they get the full privilege of American citizenship."

A Convict's Awful Death.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 14.—A convict, William Thompson, met a violent death in the jute mill at the penitentiary. Thompson was among the shuffling, and his clothing caught a rapidly revolving shaft. Before the machinery could be stopped he was whirled around several times. When taken out it was found all most every bone in his body was crushed. He lived about half an hour. Thompson was serving an eight years' sentence from Whitman county.

Whitcaps' Confession.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 14.—Payne Duncan and Will Morrison have confessed to shooting and throwing Will Roper into a copper pit in the Cohutta mountains last May. Roper was an informer on illicit distilleries. One night he was taken from his home by whitcaps, whipped and shot and then thrown into a mine shaft. He fell seventy feet. For five days he remained there, eating roots. When discovered he was nearly dead.

Must Stand Trial.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Judge Cole yesterday, in the United States district court of the district of Columbia, overruled the demurrer in the case of John W. Macartney, of Washington, and F. R. Chapman, of New York, brokers, who refused to answer certain questions before the senate sugar investigating committee, and held the defendants for trial. The defendants' counsel will now take the case to the court of appeals.

Resumed with Non-Unionists.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 14.—The United States Iron and Tin Plate company commenced work in its Dunham plant, with fifty non-union men, under guard of deputy sheriffs. The locked out men offered no interference. At East Liverpool, O., Wallis Bonfield & Co. started one of their mills with new hands. Trouble is feared should the company introduce any more outsiders to start the other mill.

NEEDLESS PRECAUTIONS.

During the Royal Funeral Procession in St. Petersburg.

STILL FEARING THE NIHILISTS.

All Doors and Windows Ordered Closed, and Householders Held Responsible for the Good Behavior of Visitors—The Czar to Wed Princess Alix Nov. 22.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—The funeral train with the body of the late czar arrived at the Nicholas station Monday night and was put upon a siding until morning in order to enable the imperial family and their relatives to finish their night's rest. As soon as all the preparations were completed, shortly after 10 a. m., the imperial train re-entered the railroad station, the body was transferred to the hearse in waiting, and was conveyed to the cathedral through the densely crowded streets, under guard of thousands of troops.

Every foot of ground along the route was occupied by the spectators, who maintained a most respectful attitude. The greatest masses of people were gathered in front of the Kazan, St. Isaac's and other churches, in front of which, previous to the starting of the procession, the clergy stood in their state robes.

The czar's Cossack body guard headed the procession, and was followed by other detachments of cavalry. Then came fifty-one standards, each escorted by officers. The first two flags and the last flag bore the imperial arms.

Next came the horse of the dead czar and a man-at-arms in gilt armor, holding the sword of state and mounted upon a splendidly caparisoned horse led by two grooms in the state livery. Following this horseman came a second man-at-arms in black armor, carrying a naked sword. He preceded a number of high officials.

The remainder of the procession until the end of the twelfth section was composed of high imperial and provincial functionaries with their staffs of officers and numbers of other officials bearing different banners.

The thirteenth and most important section of the procession was headed by the choir of the Cathedral of St. Isaac and of the Convent of St. Alexander-Newski. Following the choir were the clergy bearing lighted candles, and behind them came the czar's confessor, Father Yanchikoff, holding the image of St. Alexander-Newski, the patron saint of the dead czar.

The hearse, or funeral car, consisted of a platform on wheels. The platform was covered with black cloth, with silver bands. The spokes of the wheels were also silvered. Columns stood at the corners, and at the foot of each column on the platform there stood a general.

The coffin rested on a bier covered with black velvet. Over the coffin there was a great silver pall bordered with gold. Behind the hearse came the czar and the imperial household. They were followed by the king of Greece and the Prince of Wales. Then came a long line of grand dukes and princes, followed by their various suites and ladies of the royal families.

After the carriages came thousands of troops of all arms, who brought up the rear of the funeral procession. As the car approached the multitude along the route bowed reverently, crossing themselves. Many of the spectators wept as the coffin of the czar passed by.

The hearse arrived at the cathedral a few minutes past 2 o'clock. The czar and the other Russian imperial personages and foreign princes then carried the coffin into the church with the same ceremony as had been observed in Moscow and deposited it in the catafalque. Metropolitan Palladius, of St. Petersburg, then conducted an impressive service.

There is evidence to prove that the accession of Nicolas has not removed the anxiety caused by the nihilists, an anxiety which undoubtedly shortened the life of Alexander. Under a police order yesterday nobody was allowed on the balconies or the roofs of the houses. Though here and there a few daring or privileged persons were seen in such places, they ran the risk of being arrested and fined fifteen roubles. All doors and windows were ordered closed by the police, and householders were held responsible for the good behavior of visitors during the passage of the procession. The event has shown that these precautions might have been safely dispensed with. The imposing line of troops which kept the route were not needed for anything but a decorative purpose, or a symbol of Russia's imperial pomp and power.

It is announced that the marriage of Czar Nicolas to Princess Alix has been absolutely fixed to take place on Nov. 22.

The public was not permitted to gather on any of the bridges spanning the Neva, Isaac square or Admiralty Prospect. The other open spaces were also closed to the public.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from any objectionable substance.

Lake Under Mine Fire Still Burning.
SHARON, Pa., Nov. 14.—A number of mine officials entered the water level tunnel of the burning Lake Under mine and found it full of foul gases. No traces of the bodies of the four men who were imprisoned there thirty-five days ago was found. The lower workings are filled with water, and the fire is still burning in the upper chambers of the mine.

A Deadly Toast.

NORWICH, Conn., Nov. 14.—Mary Neilson, 25 years old, of Philadelphia, while dining with a party of friends here, in response to a toast drank a glass of carbolic acid with suicidal intent, and died soon afterwards. Not one of the party suspected that the liquid was poison until its fatal results were seen. Grief at the death of her husband led to the act.

Death of Congressman Wright.

SEQUEHANNA, Pa., Nov. 14.—Hon.
Myron B. Wright, of this place, congressman for the Fifteenth district of Pennsylvania, died in Trenton, Canada, Tuesday night, of typhoid fever. He was last week elected for the third term. Mr. Wright, who was a native of this county, was 47
years old.

Populist Gain in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 14.—The official vote of last Tuesday's election in Indiana, by congressional districts, show that the Republicans have a majority of 55,674.
For the head of the state ticket, with one county (Sullivan) out, the Republican plurality is 47,689. The Populist candidate for secretary of state received 29,391 votes, showing a Populist gain over 1892 of 7,504.

Whitewayites Sweep St. John's.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 14.—The White-wayites have swept St. John's, overwhelming the government with majorities greater than ever before attained in an election on the island. Even if the government wins all four seats in the St.
George's district it is extremely doubtful whether it will be able to remain in office.

Ex-Bank President on Trial for Forgery.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14.—The trial of Horace Steele, president of the defunct Painesville Savings bank, on the charge of forgery, began today. The indictment has rested against Mr. Steele through several

PASKOLA VINDICATED.

GROSS IGNORANCE EXPOSED.

Its Value and Healthfulness Are Fully Established.

The results obtained by certain professed chemists in an attempt to analyze Paskola are so far from the truth that we have every reason to believe the perpetrators to be in the employment of rival manufacturers (possibly people interested in the preparation of cod liver oil), whose business has been injured by the merited popularity of Paskola. This suspicion is strengthened by the fact that the untruthful reports as to the composition of Paskola have been widely circulated through the mails and otherwise.

Among the things, the so-called "chemists" have stated is that Paskola was nothing but glucose and hydrochloric acid, the ridiculousness of which assertion will be made clear by the following experiment:

Take two pint bottles; in one place
a tablespoon of glucose and in the other a like quantity of Paskola; fill them with water, shake thoroughly and add to each forty drops of muriatic or hydrochloric acid, in order to imitate the acidity of the natural gastric juice. Having previously finely minced a quantity of raw lean beef, chicken, the white of hard boiled eggs or similar foods;
put into each bottle one ounce. Immerse the bottles in warm water and carefully maintain the contents at a temperature of 100 to 105 degrees Fahrenheit, frequently shaking in order to thoroughly expose the food to the action of the solution.

In course of a very short time the contents of the bottle containing Paskola will be seen to undergo a change, and in two or three hours
the food will have become entirely dissolved or digested; whereas the contents of the other bottle containing the glucose and acid will show no change beyond a slight difference in appearance.

If you have neither the facilities
nor the inclination to make the test for yourself we have no doubt that your druggist will be glad to try the experiment. The tubes herewith show the results of a test made in our laboratory. No. 1 contained glucose, and No. 2 Paskola. What are we to conclude? One of two things either that the so-called "chemists" are ignorant or dishonest.

Glucose has no digestive properties. This is a well known fact, whereas Paskola is giving relief to thousands of dyspeptics, a truth attested by the unsolicited testimonials that pour in upon us. The presence of digestive ferments in Paskola cannot be determined by chemical test.
No one has ever seen digestive ferments in a pure form, and the only way to determine their presence is by observing the effects which they produce upon food. This is a fact recognized by every authority, and will be found stated in Foster's Physiology and other standard works.

Another thing which these ignorant and jealous rivals have said about Paskola, is that inasmuch as its basis is pre-digested starch, it is calculated to encourage diabetes.

We cannot better answer this charge than by quoting a paragraph from a report made to Mayor Gilroy,
of New York, by Dr. Cyrus Edson, Commissioner of Health for the City of New York, and for the State of New York.

"Pre-digested starch is starch in the exact condition that we find it prepared by the digestive organs for assimilation. It is preeminently a fat forming, heat-producing food.
Under a diet of pre-digested starch or glucose, a man can perform more muscular work than under any other single article of food. Pre-digested starch not only is not injurious, but it is an essential article of food, without which is some form, man cannot enjoy life."

This letter from Dr. Edson was written in answer to an inquiry from the Mayor as to whether or not predigested starch was healthful.

Paskola contains a specific form of pre-digested starch as well as digestive ferments, and is not alone a fattening food but it aids the digestion of other foods in the stomach,
just as you may see in the above experiment. The digestive stomach of the dyspeptic is too weak to do its duty. It needs a little help; this help Paskola gives. Its use is at once followed by a sense of well-being, vigor

strength and courage. The appetite improves
and the sufferer
can eat with comfort where before distress followed every meal. Pas-kola corrects emaciation and the pale, thin sufferers rapidly gain
weight under its use.

Consumptives
will experience a thousand times
more benefit by
it than from the use of disagreeable, nauseating
cod liver oil, that often does more harm than good.
Consumption need not prove fatal if we can arrest the loss of flesh, for its victim virtually dies of starvation.

paration. We will gladly mail you a the mayor, finds from the evidence that Alderman Stewart, chairman of the fire and light committee, has been on two occasions wilfully guilty of corruptly soliciting bribes of money from the manager of an Ohio electrical company, for the openly avowed purpose of securing votes and influence of himself and other aldermen.

action in his case.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 14, 1894.

Ban. B. O'Leary, Jr., Congressman-elect from this district, certifies that he spent $4,105 in a bid of his election. Among the items are Orange County Republican Committee $1,000, Sullivan County Committee $750, Rockland County Committee $500, printing $600; postage $889.

Supervisor Robertson, of Crawford, says that an examination of the election returns before the Board of Canvassers, yesterday, showed that at least 400 of the Grace ballots which contained the names of none of the local candidates, were voted in this Assembly District. This means that on an average eight of these ballots were voted in each election district and that number of Democrats partially disfranchised. As a device for preventing a free and full expression of the popular will the Saxton ballot law, as exemplified in last week's election, is "out of sight."

In Sullivan county, John Murphy, the defeated Republican candidate for Sheriff, received 850 votes less than were cast for other candidates on the Republican ticket. His defeat was brought about by the Couch faction of the Republican party, who were determined to show the Thornton faction, which dominates the party, that their wishes must be consulted in making nominations. The Thorntonites are understood to be determined to make no peace with the followers of Couch, declaring that defeat is preferable to a surrender to bolters and kickers. The situation is interesting, and very encouraging to Democrats.

In Broome county's Board of Supervisors the lines are sharply drawn between the city of Binghamton and the country towns, and the result is much friction and unpleasantness. Of late years there has been a tendency in Orange county's board to array the city and country Supervisors against each other and the lines were drawn, last year, more sharply than ever before. Only harm to the best interests of the county can result from such divisions and the best service any Supervisor can render the county is to help smooth down asperities having their origin in such artificial distinctions as city and town lines.

Our Republican contemporaries are in great tribulation about the new bond issue. They see in it a deliberate act, or, rather, to do them justice, a deep and devilish purpose on the part of the Democratic administration to rob them of opportunity for claiming whatever share of business revival may come. They see in the way in which the recent elections went. They are quick to perceive how important a part the fortifying of the treasury reserve may play in the country's immediate business future, that an inevitable effect of this step will be to build up confidence in American credit at home and abroad. Of course, the Democrats will get credit for this, but that is not all, for there is the horrible conclusion staring them in the face that new impulse to business means waning interest in high protective tariff and, more than likely, general public conviction that the country is being made prosperous by Democratic legislation and Democratic policy.

THIS GOAT SMOKES.
He Prefers a Cigarette to a Pipe, and Comes Down to Cigarettes if He Has To.

A billy goat that smokes cigars and cigarettes, just like a man, is in the possession of Charles Reber, at 120 Krass street, Canastota. The goat has a 12 year growth of horns and whiskers of about the same age, growing gracefully and odorously from his chin. After a hearty feast upon his ticks, rags, paper and anything else in sight Billie, as he is called, takes his pipe. Unless a cigar or cigarette is provided the after meal enjoyment is all broken up for Billie, and he bleats continually until provided with a smoke.

No matter how the fragrant weed pulls at a goat with more relish than this goat. A complete smile curls his upper lip when the heated weed is placed in his mouth, and the right foot makes a neat row and the whiskers as though to smoke them. But Billie is no ordinary smoker, not is he unskilled in the habit. He is not only a connoisseur of the best clear Havana goods, but is in adept at fast puffing and graceful manual dexterity of the weed while in his mouth. The smoke is never puffed out of his mouth. Billie inhales it and blows it out through his nostrils in great clouds. It is related that he attempted to make a smoke ring once, but in puffing up his lips he swallowed the cigar, blade and all. He evidently relished the piece as a dainty morsel, for since that time he never takes more than one or two puffs of a cigar or cigarette, swallows it down, then blows the smoke out of his nostrils with the ease and grace that would put to shame a two legged cigar smoker.

It is related that Billie has taken to smoking with much regret that a brother goat man, Chapman, had watched him tickle the pipes. He pretends cigars, as a rule, however, but when nothing better is to be had he resorts to welcome. Charles Reber, the owner of the goat, notices his growing fondness for cigarettes with much alarm. "With a cigar in his mouth," remarked Mr. Reber, "he looks like the full grown, 12 year old, 100 pound goat he is, but when he wants to dabble up with a cute little cigarette it spoils his handsome coat of cuticle." Mr. Reber is very solicitous for the welfare of his animal and his great expectations that the cigarette crusade now on in the city will be carried into the animal kingdom and save his goat from the grave of a confirmed cigarette fiend.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

FOOLING WITH MOONSHINERS.

Only One of the United States Deputy Marshals Came Back Whole.

It was known in the United States marshal's office at Nashville that wildcat whisky was coming down the Cumberland river. The marshal was new in office, and therefore was determined to do his duty, which, of course, was to see that the illicit distilleries, no matter how remote, should be destroyed, and that the distillers should be brought to justice. This predecessor in office had been likewise determined and had sent brave men to the mountains, but whisky had continued to come down the Cumberland river. The present marshal, Captain Hayes, an old Confederate officer, and that he thought that when the boys found out that he really wanted them to quit they would do so. He understood them, he knew their natures, their rapidity and their disposition to yield to persuasion. So he sent a deputy and four men to the boys to quit. One night about a week later some one rang a doorbell, and the marshal himself went to the door.

"Why," said he, "have you got back, Caney?"
Caney answered, "Yes, just about."
"Where is the deputy marshal?"
"Well, he's back too."
"Why didn't he come around?"
"Well, I showed that his folks needed him more than you did, so I unloaded him there."
"What, you don't mean that he's hurt?"
"No, not hurt now, but he was. He's dead at present. I'm the only one that got back whole."
"Well, I declare! Didn't you tell those boys that I wanted them to quit their fool-busness?"
"Yes, and they must have been hard of hearing, for they kept on a-shootin'."

A VERY SENSATIONAL CASE.

Mrs. Krempf's Suit Against the Metropolitan Traction Company for Big Damages—Strong Testimony for Plaintiff—Searching Cross-examination—A Paterson Hotel Clerk's Story.

The court room at Newburgh was crowded, yesterday, during the trial of the suit of Mrs. Anna Belle Krempf, of this city, against the Metropolitan Traction Company, of New York.

In addition to the lawyers mentioned, yesterday, Col. W. D. Dickey, of Newburgh, appeared as counsel for the plaintiff, making the opening speech, and District Attorney Hirschberg appeared as one of defendant's counsel.

The securing of a jury was no easy matter, and it was 10 o'clock when the requisite "twelve good men and true" were secured. They were: Matthew Montgomery, Thomas F. Darcy, Newburgh city; Dr. Montgomery, W. Q. McInturn, Warwick; William J. Gaunt, Blooming Grove; James Meagher, Cornwall; James M. Green, Milton F. Bull, James McGinnis, Crawford; Theron M. Bodine, James Mullen, Greenville; John R. Elston, Mount Hope.

COL. DICKEY'S OPENING.

Col. Dickey's opening for the plaintiff was eloquent and impressive. He described the accident in which Mrs. Krempf claims she sustained the injuries which form the basis of her suit. He depicted the physical sufferings she had endured and with deep feeling referred to the fact that because of her physical condition she had been compelled to break off an engagement to be married on Feb. 15th to a man whom she loved with her whole heart. Col. Dickey said in conclusion that the defense had worked for months in preparing its case and had spent money like water. Detectives had watched every movement of plaintiff. One of these fellows had paid $10 a week, for a room without board in a house adjoining that of plaintiff, and from his vantage point had gazed into her apartments at all hours of the day and night. He had tried to bribe plaintiff's servants, had taken them driving, had dined and wine and done everything possible to gain their confidence and induce them to reveal something damaging to their employer.

THE PLAINTIFF'S TESTIMONY.

Mrs. Krempf, the plaintiff, was the first witness. Before the accident she weighed 234 pounds, but her weight is now only 213 pounds. She is thirty-seven years old, not bad looking, but by no means a beauty, as some of the New York papers have described her.

Her story, as related in answer to her counsel's questions, was that on Jan. 13th, 1894, while she was in the act of stepping on a Chambers street car in front of the Erie ferry, having her left foot on the step and her left hand on the rear guard rail, the car suddenly started and she was thrown to the ground. The conductor and an unknown gentleman helped her to regain the car, and although she suffered excruciating pain in her back, she continued on her way to the Brooklyn bridge, crossed on the bridge cars unaided, made a two days' visit at a friend's house in Brooklyn, and did not, although suffering greatly all the time, realize the extent of her injuries until she returned to her home in Middletown, and called in a physician, Dr. Carpenter. As she did not improve another physician, Dr. Pillsbury, was called, who discovered that she had two broken ribs and had sustained a concussion of the spine. From that time forward she was confined almost incessantly to the house and could only make her way about by using the backs of chairs as supports.

MR. WELLMAN'S CROSS EXAMINATION.

Assistant District Attorney Wellman, one of the best cross-examiners in the State, subjected Mrs. Krempf to a merciless cross examination. In the preparation of the case the plaintiff's whole life history had been gone into. He began by having her stand up and show how the alleged accident occurred. Then he asked if, at the time of his death the late lamented Krempf had not an action for divorce pending. Then he produced a letter written by her to Detective Elwell, who made himself conspicuous here by his futile efforts to hunt down the murderer of Mrs. Gregory, and wanted her to explain why she said nothing to him about the accident on the day that it occurred, but a week later wrote to him to find out the number of the car leaving the foot of Chamber street at a certain hour. He asked if plaintiff had ever conducted a house of questionable character in New York and inquired particularly as to a visit which she and Mrs. Buck, her friend and companion, made to Paterson on Jan. 26th, thirteen days after the accident, where the latter registered at a hotel under an assumed name and they met two of Dockstadter's minstrels. Plaintiff explained that the man she met, W. W. Sweetland, was the man she was engaged to marry and that she met him to convince him that she was too broken physically to fulfill her engagement.

On the re-direct examination by Mr. Vanamee, plaintiff, who made a remarkably good witness, had little difficulty in explaining several matters which in the shape Mr. Wellman had left them looked bad for her and her case.

Mrs. Buck or Dolson, Mrs. Krempf's companion on the Paterson trip, confirmed Mrs. Krempf's version of it. Mr. Wellman, on cross-examination, forced her to admit that she was known by half a dozen names in as many different places.

DR. PILLSBURY'S TESTIMONY.

Dr. Pillsbury was the next witness. He had attended Mrs. Krempf and proceeded to describe her symptoms, which were those of disturbance of the nervous system. For instance, her description of feeling as though walking on cushions, inability to bring points of fingers together when her eyes were closed; she shows loss of flesh, eyes not as bright, grasp of one hand is less than the other, one limb is of less use than the other. A person afflicted as Mrs. Krempf is would never regain her former condition; she will never be able to do housework, will require careful nursing and attendance of physicians.

Mr. Wellman subjected the doctor to a searching cross-examination, and there was a sharp battle of wits between them.

Bra. Struble and Gillson testified that they had attended the plaintiff soon after she was hurt and had examined her recently, and that she was suffering from concussion of the spine.

Mrs. Cassun, of Brooklyn, a pretty woman in fine raiment and diamonds, and her daughter testified to Mrs. Krempf's visit there on the day of the accident.

Several witnesses testified that Mrs. Krempf had been in good health before the accident.

A HOTEL CLERK'S TESTIMONY.

The first witness for the defense called was Hugh Mulligan, night clerk at the United States Hotel at Paterson. He testified to the visit of the two women to that hotel where they registered as Mrs. Krempf and Mrs. Dawson and secured two rooms, saying that they expected their husbands. Soon after two men arrived and registered as Mr. Krempf and Mr. Dawson and he took the men to the rooms occupied by the women, where the men remained all night. That the man who registered as Mr. Krempf he knew to be Mr. Sweetland, of Dockstadter's Minstrels. He suspected that something was wrong and listened at the door of their rooms several times during the night and heard the voices of both a man and a woman in each, each time he listened. The hotel register with the names inscribed was offered in evidence.

Col. Dickey in the cross-examination could not break down this damaging testimony.

James T. Van, conductor on the car at the time of the accident, testified that no woman fell or was hurt on that date. At the conclusion of his evidence at 3.30 court adjourned to 9.30, this morning.

A VERY SUSPICIOUS DEATH.

Coroner Decker Investigating the Death of Mrs. Lyon, of "The Vacant"—Her Husband's Contradictory Statements—A Fractured Skull Suggests Foul Play.

Mrs. Henrietta Hardy-Lyon died at 1 o'clock, Monday morning, on "The Vacant," near Scotchtown, and the subsequent developments are such as to render necessary an official investigation of the cause of her death.

Undertaker John Donovan, of this city, received notice, Monday evening, from Poor Master Lee, of the town of Walkill, to go for the body and bury it at the expense of the town. The order was accompanied by a death certificate, signed by Dr. Wm. Wallace, of Montgomery, and gave as the cause of death, "congestive chill and alcoholism." A foot note on the certificate stated that the doctor was not present at the time of death, nor had he attended the woman prior to her decease.

This circumstance appeared to Mr. Donovan to be suspicious and he inquired of Coroner Decker as to the propriety of proceeding with the case. The Coroner instructed him to go after the body, examine it and report to him.

Mr. Donovan went to the place, yesterday. The house is situated in the woods, fully a mile from any other dwelling. The family moved there about three weeks ago, having come from Craigville, and previous to that from a small place near Boonton, N. J., where Mr. and Mrs. Lyon were married, February 4, 1894.

Mrs. Lyon was the widow of a man named Hardy, and had five children. She was forty-seven years of age. Mr. Lyon, who is about the same age, was a widower with several children, and when the couple were married the two youngest of the widow's children and a married son of Mr. Lyon moved to Craigville and to "The Vacant" with them. Lyon and his son had secured a job as wood cutters with the owner of the property on which they lived.

Mr. Lyon, when asked by the undertaker how his wife died, said that they had been talking together and that the woman appeared to be in her usual health. She had not been drinking, and to his certain knowledge had not had a drink in six weeks, as he knew she had no money with which to procure liquor. He left her in bed and went to an adjoining room, and upon his return a few moments later she was "stone dead."

This was at 1 o'clock in the morning. Early on Monday morning he went to Montgomery and notified Dr. Wallace, who after an examination granted the above peculiar certificate.

None of the family seemed to care what became of the body. Mr. Lyon, when asked if he wanted to attend the funeral said, "No, I can't do any good." The family was satisfied to turn the body over to Mr. Donovan for burial in Phillipsburgh Cemetery, and he accordingly brought the remains to his undertaking establishment in this city.

Mr. Lyon did not reply to the undertaker's questions with natural freedom and would not take a last look at his wife's remains.

This morning Coroner Decker and Drs. Mills and Hardenberg viewed the remains. The physicians found a deep depression in the skull a few inches above the forehead, which looked as if it had been made with some blunt instrument. There were also several scratches on the woman's face and nose.

Drs. Mills and Hardenberg began an autopsy at 2.30, this afternoon, which is still in progress. After stripping the scalp from the skull a distinct fracture was found on the left side of the head near the top. The depression and the condition of the scalp would indicate that the injury was inflicted with a blunt instrument.

When Coroner Decker ascertained this fact he at once decided to cause the arrest of the woman's husband and place other members of the family under surveillance and to thoroughly investigate the case.

HEART OF NAPOLEON.

IT WAS SYMPATHETIC AND GUIDED A POETIC NATURE.

He Was Kind and Considerate as He Was Brave—Recent Testimony For This Side of the Great Soldier's Character, Which Has Not Always Been Recognized.

Speaking of Napoleon's boyhood, one who knows whereof he speaks says: "In his school days the 'grand homme' gave many indications of the very qualities which procured for him the splendid success which has brought him everlasting fame. His love of discipline, order and power was shown by the manner in which he controlled his schoolmates and constructed himself their leader, teaching them the art of war in mimic battles, constructing forts and fortifications of snow in the playground in which many a fierce engagement was fought and won, with snowballs for cannon balls and ice pellets for shot. It is recorded that he undertook to reform the laxity of the college rules and regulations by addressing a letter to the junior master, indicating a system that would do away with the abuses, and that he applied these same rules afterward to the schools of Fontainebleau, Saint Cyr and Saint Germain." According to a recent writer, on one occasion he was directing a performance of the tragedy of Caesar's death when the wife of the college porter endeavored to force her way into the assembly on the strength of her position, but Napoleon made short work of her. "Remove this woman," he cried, "who brings into our midst the license of the camp," an order instantly obeyed by his colleagues, much, it may be supposed, to the discomfiture of the good woman.

That Napoleon was at heart a great poet there can be no doubt. Mme. Remusat relates that he was a lover of Ossian, was fond of the twilight and melancholy music. The murmur of the wind enraptured him, and he would dilate enthusiastically on the meaning of the sea and the wild beauty of the tempest. His powerful imagination sought to grasp the unseen. He would sometimes unclose himself, while passing the evening in Josephine's drawing room, by telling or listening to ghost stories while the candles were shaded and the singers present executed music of a low, sweet, weird description to the accompaniment of stringed instruments. Doubtless this gift of a subtle imagination led Napoleon to suspect where it was unnecessary and look for a motive in every action of those around him. He believed all men liars until he proved them otherwise. He used to relate the story with great gusto that when he was a child one of his uncles predicted of him that he would govern the world, because he was an habitual liar. "Of M. de Metternich he once said, 'He is a promise to being a statesman, he is a co-well'."

Napoleon's life is an unending source of inspiration to the painter David, Veret, Schaeffer, Steube, and a host of others of his time have bequeathed to us some of the great battle and incidents of his career on undying canvas. To each picture is attached some interesting story. During the Italian campaign Napoleon was one night surveying the field of Bassano, the moon illumined the sad scene of carnage, no sound disturbed the deep silence save the feeble groans of the dying and the moans of the wounded. Suddenly a dog crept forward from a dead body over which he was keeping watch, the poor animal, faithful to his master, and then abandoned his efforts to abandon his efforts to bring his dead master back to life.

Napoleon was deeply touched by the faithful friendship of the animal, who would not forsake his master like his human friends. "What a lesson for man," cried Napoleon as he gazed on the pathetic spectacle. So strong was the impression made on his mind by that midnight episode of the battlefield that after 25 years he related it when banished to the rock of St. Helena.

Another instance of his real tenderness for the suffering and oppressed was during his Egyptian campaign. A poor fellow had been murdered by a tribe of Arabs who had entered with an armed band into a village and driven off the herds. Napoleon immediately commanded that a company of dragoons and horsemen should go in pursuit of the guilty party. One of the sheiks, surprised at the indignation of the emperor, observed that it would not be wise for him to embroil himself with the Arabs, a dangerous people, for the sake of a miserable fellow. "Was he, then, thy cousin?" queried the sheik. "More than that," cried Napoleon, with vehemence, "all those whom I command are my children!"

Again, at the plague of Jaffa, Napoleon visited the hospital and endeavored to console the poor dying soldiers. Grouchy attempted to convey an idea of his presence in his great painting of "The Plague of Jaffa," wherein he represents Napoleon touching the eruption of a soldier afflicted with the disease, an act no doubt prompted by his desire to inspire courage in those not so well as well as to evince his sympathy with the sufferings of his poor soldiers—Exchange.

Ping-Yang.

Ping-Yang, in northern Korea, was the first "literary center" in the peninsula. Its chief attraction was an ancestor of Confucius named Kashi, who, gathering up his writ and materials, and leaving China in 1122 B. C. emigrated eastward into Korean regions. His name is greatly venerated, and many tablets still exist in his honor in the northern parts of Korea.—New York Tribune.

The barefoot cure receives unqualified endorsement in the Scottish highlands, where it is said dwell the healthiest children in the world. They seldom wear shoes before they are 12 years of age.

TELLING THE TRUTH.

A Well-known Business Man Testifies
for Munyon.

W. D. Well, the well-known real estate broker of 42 N. Alexander street, Rochester, N. Y., says: "My wife was attacked by severe muscular rheumatism, and was finally compelled to take to her bed. I secured a bottle of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure, and after taking six doses she was able to rise and dress herself unassisted. I have also been relieved of sharp, shooting pains after taking a few doses. I consider the cure a marvelous one."

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism can be cured in from one to five days. It speedily cures shooting pains, sciatica, lumbago and all rheumatic pains in the back, hips and loins. It seldom fails to give relief after one or two doses, and almost invariably cures before one bottle has been used.

Munyon's Stomach and Dyspepsia Cure is guaranteed to cure all forms of stomach troubles and indigestion.

Munyon's Homeopathic Home Remedy Company, of Philadelphia, put up special offices for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.

ADULTERATED WINE

is injurious, but nothing gives strength and tones up the stomach like a pure old port wine. "Royal Ruby Port," so called for its royal taste and ruby color, is on account of its purity, age and strength, particularly adapted for invalids, convalescents and the aged. Sold only in bottles (never in bulk) while cheap wine is sold by the gallon and gives a larger profit to the seller but less to the user. This wine is absolutely pure, and has the age without which no wine is fit to use. Be sure you get "Royal Ruby" quart bottles $1, pints 60 cts. Sold by J. E. MILLS, Druggist.

THE BOARD OF CANVASSERS.

Some of the Returns Defective and Sent Back for Correction.

The committee appointed to canvass the returns of the election for Orange county, at Goshen, yesterday, found the returns from a few of the districts defective and sent them back for correction. It was noticeable, however, that the returns were in better shape than at any time since the new ballot law went into effect.

The Board adjourned to 11 o'clock, to-day.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Organization for the Annual Session.

The Board of Supervisors met this afternoon, and organized for the annual session by electing the candidates for the various offices selected by the Republican caucus: Chairman, Charles J. Boyd, of Middletown; Clerk, Ingham Stubble, of Newburgh; Official Reporter, James E. Landy, of Goshen.

WATER FOR MONROE.

The Village to Expend $35,000 on Water Works.

An election to determine whether the village of Monroe should construct water works was held Saturday, and resulted in a tie-eight votes for and fifteen against the proposition.

The plan proposed is to bring the water from Lake Mombasha, three miles south of the village, covering an area of 300 acres. It will pass through a fifteen inch terra cotta pipe for a distance of one mile and the remainder of the distance through a ten inch iron pipe.

A pressure of seventy-five pounds at the nozzle will be obtained in the center of the village.

The estimated cost of the plant is $34,000 and as the village has no debt it is expected the bonds will be sold at a good premium.

The Board of Water Commissioners consists of Gilbert Carpenter, Henry Mapes, Geo. P. Conkling and H. M. Morehouse.

Annual Meeting of the Free Christian Church Social Circle.

The "Social Circle" of the Free Christian Church will hold its annual meeting at the residence of Mrs. Josephine Little and Mrs. Frank E. Burr, of Grant street, Thursday evening, Nov. 15th. A cordial invitation is extended to all friends and acquaintances. Supper 20 cents. No postponement on account of weather. Trolley cars go nearly to the door.

New York Hat Works Shut Down.

The New York Hat Works shut down, to-day. The last batch of hats was finished yesterday, and these were crimped and packed to-day and will be shipped this evening.

As has been previously stated in this paper, the reason for the shutting down of the factory is lack of sufficient capital to carry on the business.

Use It in Time.

Catarrrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat and is in fact, the great enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably produce catarrrh, causing an excessive flow of mucus, and if the mucus discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrrh will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and oftentimes a very offensive discharge. Ely's Cream Salve is the acknowledged cure for these troubles.

For dyspepsia try McMonagie & Rogers' Pepsin Essence.

FOR MEN MUST WORK.

The Many Uncomplaining, But Weary Toilers.

THEY GO WITHOUT REST TO MAKE SURE OF HAPPINESS FOR OTHERS.

Overworked Nerves Work Half Fed and Cry Out With Pain.

For eight out of every ten who ever take a vacation, there remains behind some hard working, uncomplaining toiler who is only too happy if he can provide a rest and a change for those dear to him.

And it is lucky if in many cases if this self-denial does not get to be regarded as a duty, and the thought of a rest of one's self is a thing impossible.

The number of such overwrought men, who simply toil on without so much as two weeks' respite a year, is surprisingly large.

Grateful wives and children should see, then, that these cheerful and unselfish fathers and brothers do not "work themselves to death." Signs of failing strength and nervous weakness, that none so quickly detect as they, should be promptly and firmly combated. A thorough feeding of worn-out nervous tissues by Paine's celery compound soon does away with every form of nervous debility and exhaustion. This great brain and nerve invigorator, Paine's celery compound, supplies rich material for the repair of all the nerve tissues. It makes the thin, used-up blood again capable of feeding the system, and purifies it of all humors that work harm to the body.

There are countless men so absorbed in business that they disregard the indications of nervous weakness and think that their neuralgia, headaches and rheumatism are trifles. It is the duty of those members of the household, who see this gradual decline from health, to insist on a building up of the "run-down" system and a strengthening of the nerves and brain by a vigorous tonic like Paine's celery compound.

In every city in this country there are homes that have escaped sickness and misfortune, because some prudent member has known the value of Paine's celery compound for strengthening nerves and brain, purifying the blood, and building up the vigor of the tired body. For overworked men, for nervous, "run-down" women, in a bloodless condition, Paine's celery compound is the regular prescription of family practitioners all over the country. It has permanently freed thousands from neuralgia, rheumatism, dyspepsia, kidney troubles, and blood diseases, by invigorating the body, purifying the blood and feeding the nerves. Nothing gives strength like Paine's celery compound.

No Sunday Work Permitted.

A company which has the contract for laying an asphalt pavement in Binghamton put a gang of men to work Sunday morning, expecting to make great progress while there was no traffic on the streets, but the city officials ordered the men to stop work under the authority of the statute prohibiting street work on Sunday when not absolutely necessary.

Artesian Wells for Binghamton's Water Supply.

Binghamton's Water Commissioners have decided to sink an artesian well on the water works property and if a good flow of water is obtained, other wells will be sunk and the city's supply obtained from them. There has been much complaint in Binghamton of water pumped from the river, which is roily and impure after every rain, and it is hoped to obtain a better supply from wells.

WAWAYANDA.

Good Auction Prices—Unhusked Corn—The Meteoric Shower of 1832—Waiting for the Trolley to Goshen—Apples for Stock—A Landmark.

Correspondence ARGUS and MERCURY.

—There was a large attendance at the auction sale at the late residence of Oscar H. Mills, deceased, near Slate Hill, on Mondaylast. Farming utensils and products brought good prices. Cows ranged from twenty dollars to over fifty dollars. M. B. Austin was the auctioneer.

—Several farmers in this town have not finished husking their corn. Cold fingers and sour looks are often the result of farmers putting off corn husking until November.

—Winter is advancing with a stern front and will soon be upon us.

—The managers of the Slate Hill steel letter factory have lately received several large orders.

—As the earth is now passing through the meteoric zone in its orbit I am reminded of the meteoric shower that I beheld once when meteors fell as thick and fast as huge snow flakes. It was on the morning of Nov. 13, 1832.

—Quite a number of Wawayandians are anxious to ride on the trolley cars from Middletown to Goshen, and will do so as soon as the road is completed.

—Some farmers say that where their cattle have daily access to apples that fall from the trees in their orchards the fruit makes the cows yield full as much milk and fattens them full as well as if fed on corn meal or other feed.

—I noticed the other day a large rock on W. H. Wood's farm in a stone fence marked R. M. the initials of Roswell Mead. The letters were chiseled thereon by him in the year of 1841. The rock is of five tons weight.

Suit Against the Walkill Valley Railroad.

William T. Roosa, of Kingston, has begun suit against the Walkill Valley Railroad for $10,000 damages for injuries sustained July 9th, 1892, when making his first trip over the road as brakeman. He alleges that at New Palz he was struck by a faultily constructed water crane, which hung over the track, and permanently injured, being subject to spells of dizziness and fainting.

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Brownsville, Ind., says: "I have been in a distressed condition for three years from nervousness, weakness of the stomach, dyspepsia and indigestion until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nerve, which did me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely medicine; a few bottles of it have cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." Warranted the most wonderful stomach and nerve cure ever known. Sold by J. E. Mills, Middletown, N. Y.

PINCHED FACES.

PECULIAR TO AMERICAN WOMEN.

Some of the Causes which Appear upon Investigation.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

Ask them "What can be the matter?" and the invariable answer is, "I don't know." The eyes droop, and an air of deep gloom seems to overwhelm them. Press your questions a little closer, and you find avoidance of all society, reluctance to make the slightest effort, all accompanied with a crushing sense of bearing down.

Further investigation discloses irregularity of periods, dizziness and faintness at times, and perhaps leucorrhoea.

Then surely the evidence is all-sufficient. An American woman has discovered that the cause of all this lies in a deranged and diseased uterus or womb.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most marvelous cure for this trouble ever discovered.

A purely vegetable remedy, it is at once an absolutely safe and natural cure for this crushing trouble.

It has cured thousands, and will cure you as sure as truth is truth.

Here is a letter from one of them which she wants you to publish:—

"Five years I have been almost a constant sufferer from all kinds of female trouble in all its dreadful forms: shooting pains all over my body, sick headache, spinal weakness, faintness, dizziness, depression, and everything that MRS. HARRIET WAMPLER was afflicted with. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors. 'I feel it my duty to tell you these facts that you also may be cured. My heart is full of gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham.'—Mrs. Harriet Wampler, Box 944, Baraboo, Wis.
